

157 STUDENTS TO VISIT SHOW

Prof. E. H. Hughes Conducts Sight-Seeing to Chicago International.

One hundred and thirty-seven students in the College of Agriculture of the University under the supervision of Prof. E. H. Hughes of the animal husbandry department, left at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Chicago to attend the International Live Stock Show to be held there this week. At Centralia they caught the 9 o'clock Chicago and Alton special and arrived in Chicago this morning in a special car. They will stay at the Y. M. C. A. Hotel.

A program of sight-seeing has been mapped out for them, starting with a visit to Chicago University and the Marshall Field Museum today. Tomorrow morning they will spend in the Swift packing house and in the afternoon will watch the judging at the Stock Show. At night they will attend the horse show. Tuesday will start with a morning visit to the stock yards and in the afternoon they will watch the judging of shorthorn cattle, Percheron horses and college cattle and horses at the Stock Show. They will leave Chicago at 6:30 o'clock that night and arrive in Columbia in time for 8 o'clock classes Wednesday morning.

Besides Mr. Hughes, nine other members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture will attend the show. They are Prof. L. G. Rinkle of the dairy department, Prof. L. A. Weaver, Prof. S. T. Simpson, Prof. Howard Hackedorn, Prof. H. O. Allison, W. A. Albrecht and Prof. E. A. Trowbridge of the animal husbandry department, Prof. S. D. Gromer of the rural economics department and Prof. H. L. Kempster of the poultry department. Professors Rinkle, Weaver and Simpson will be accompanied by their wives. Professor Trowbridge will judge breeding and fat Galloway cattle at the show. Professor Gromer will spend part of his time attending the marketing conference held as a part of the stock show.

The blocks will be played at Booche's at 2:15 p. m. and 8:15 p. m. each day starting Monday until the match is completed. There will be no admission fee.

PARADERS CELEBRATE VICTORY

'Stephens College, Hall Theater Visited in Honoring Tigers' Triumph.

The most decisive football victory of Missouri over Kansas in the 23 years of athletic relations between the two schools was commemorated Friday night with a shirrtail parade. The 200 paraders did not create a new attendance record for such a festivity; but in proportion to the number of University students who were in the city at the time, the parade probably was more of a success than either of the two that have followed Tiger victories over the Jayhawkers within the past three years.

The parade started at 8:30 o'clock. The marchers came to a halt at Stephens College, where they were entertained with a stereopticon view display of cartoons depicting the victory of the Tigers. The Stephens girls then joined the paraders in singing Missouri songs.

Through the courtesy of the management of the Hall Theater the entire procession was allowed to attend the performance gratis.

Harrison has a son, Ralph, who is a lieutenant-colonel and a grandson who is a lieutenant in the United States Army.

ASKS DAMAGES OF THE KATY

Attorney Files Suit Against His Former Employers.

After years spent in defending the M. K. & T. Railroad in damage suits, C. B. Sebastian has assumed the role of plaintiff and has filed suit for $250 damages against Charles E. Schaff, receiver of that railroad. Mr. Sebastian was formerly an attorney for the Katy.

The petition states that the plaintiff, while standing in the car aisle, was thrown violently to the floor by a sudden jerk of the train and that he left his seat because the actions of the porter led him to believe that the destination, the St. Louis Union Station, had been reached.
